

Evaluation in sport, leisure and wellbeing; the power of knowledge exchange?

Bournemouth University, Wednesday 9 May

9.15-9.30	Registration and refreshments
9.30-9.45	Introductions - Towards co production, why two symposia and where the links lie for the next seminar
9.45-10.30	Opening address 1: Professor Fred Coalter Problematism Sport and Leisure - Gaps in evidence and research
10.30-11.15	Opening address 2: Prof. Sam Porter The scope and capacity of [Realist] Evaluation followed by Q&A
10.30-11.00	Problematism Sport and Leisure - Gaps in evidence and research. Politics of evaluation?
11.15-11.30	Refreshment break
11.30-12.30	Pechakucha style presentations and discussion - case studies and realist evaluation in practice – what are the issues? Is it possible to have co-productive approaches to knowledge and how it is translated? Clarifying the relationship between programme development and programme evaluation
12.30-1.30	Lunch break
1.30-2.00	Afternoon address 1: Reinhard Haudenhuyse 'Let's get realistic: Why "what works" will not always "work"
2.00-3.30	Roundtable discussions
	1. What counts as evidence and how are power relations negotiated in its creation? What can academics do to bridge the gap?
	2. Where do realist approaches to evidence have purchase and to what extent can this or should this be mobilised in co-productive spaces (whatever they are and wherever they may be).
3.30-4.00	Reflections, open forum
4.00	Close